

TRIBAL LEADERS' PUBLIC HEALTH SYMPOSIUM

From Kernel to Corn Pollen

June 26 - 27, 2017 | Embassy Suites Hotel | Albuquerque, NM

Join a diverse group of current and future American Indian leaders to build public health knowledge and skills to succeed in your new role. Prepare for higher levels of responsibility in health advocacy and policy development with an emphasis on self-determination and Tribal sovereignty.

Who Should Attend

Participation is open to teams of 2-3 individuals per Tribe, Pueblo, Nation, or off-reservation health organization.

Each team must include at least one recently elected or appointed Leader such as a Councilmember, Chapter Official, Board Member for an urban American Indian entity, etc.

Additional team members may also include any combination of:

- ▶ Administrative Leaders from tribal or urban/off-Reservation American Indian health organizations
- ▶ Advocates for American Indian health
- ▶ Leaders “from kernel to corn pollen” such as Youth and Elders interested in Tribal health and governance

More Information

Please call (505) 272-4100 or email Norman Cooney at NCooneyate@salud.unm.edu

Presentation Topics:

- ▶ Understanding Government for Health
- ▶ Creating a Vision for Community Health & Wellness
- ▶ Using Data & Research to Become Better Advocates for Health
- ▶ Transferring Knowledge: “Leader to Leader”

FREE REGISTRATION

HTTP://BIT.LY/REG-TLPHS

Register by 5:00pm on:
Friday, MAY 26, 2017

Limited Travel Scholarships for lodging and transportation available and awarded in order of registration. REGISTER EARLY!